MORTGAGE STRATEGY GUIDE

VALAR

10 ways to pay your mortgage off faster.

Small changes. Less interest. More years mortgage-free.

01 Make your cash work

Use Offset or Flexi strategically.

Keep savings and spare cash working against your mortgage while staying accessible.

02 Pay a little more

Even small extra repayments can cut years off your loan.

$500K MORTGAGE · 30 YEARS · 5%

+$150 / weekly → mortgage-free 10 years earlier

03 Split your mortgage

Use different fixed terms instead of refixing everything at once.

Spread rate risk. Create more opportunities to adjust.

04 When rates fall, don’t follow

Your minimum repayment drops? Keep paying the old amount.

Rate ↓ | Repayment stays | Principal ↓ faster

05 Use cheaper debt when available

Car, renovation, solar or another planned expense?

Check special-purpose bank lending before adding expensive debt, and keep your original repayment discipline.

What could your mortgage look like?

The best strategy depends on your numbers, your structure and your plans.

06 Review. Refix. Refinance.

Don't stay with the same structure forever. If refinancing genuinely saves money, put surplus cashback against the mortgage.

Rates | Structure | Cashback | Switching costs

07 Make extra money 50/50

Bonus? Commission? Tax refund? Unexpected income?

50% → enjoy it | 50% → mortgage

Financial progress shouldn't mean never enjoying your money.

08 Redirect finished payments

A regular expense disappears? Don't let the money disappear with it.

- Car loan finished → mortgage
- Student loan finished → mortgage
- Childcare reduced → mortgage

Give your mortgage a pay rise.

09 Use interest-free credit strategically ADVANCED

Keep cash working in Offset/Flexi while normal spending sits temporarily on an interest-free credit card.

> Golden rule: pay the full balance before interest applies. Not disciplined with credit cards? Skip this strategy.

10 Consider investing the extra ADVANCED

Extra cash doesn't always have to go directly to the mortgage. For long-term investors, investing may offer higher potential returns than the mortgage interest saved.

10+ year horizon | Higher risk | Returns not guaranteed

Your mortgage is a 30-year loan.
Your strategy doesn't have to be.
